Dear Ken,

Have you read this yet? This is a word for word copy of the original letter written by Dr. Adams. He refused to sign it and then refused to testify at my competency hearing. All who have read it, linked to the recordings, have told me that it reads like a comedy skit from Saturday night live. He was going to be the first target of a lawsuit from Gerard Beloin. Unfortunately he died in a drowning accident this past summer.

This is a belated response to our meeting at your office at the Federal Building in Concord, NH, Tuesday the 10th of November 2009 at 11:00 am with Attorney Paula Werme present. In our conversation, you fondly compared me to your imaginary friend John Devroe (aka John Doe) and Don Quixote. You claimed that I was jousting at windmills. I found you to be grossly misinformed about me and my situation. Following is a list of all of the lawsuits I have filed..... None.

Following is the list of lawsuits filed by the State of NH and it's agents in an attempt to discredit me simply for making these court records public. Simply because I dared to exercise my 1st Amendment rights.

Janigan V Beloin - 05-LT-00025 - Beloin won
Janigan vs Bluestone, Inc. - 05-LT-00034 - Beloin won
John Janigan v Gerard Beloin 05-LT-00073 Beloin won
Steckowych V Beloin - 05-E-0111 - Beloin won
Steckowych V Beloin - 2005-0481 - Beloin won

State V Beloin 05-S-1305 - Case dismissed with prejudice - \(Transcripts\) Beloin won
State V Beloin 05-S-1306 - Beloin won
State V Beloin 05-S-1307 - Beloin won

State V Beloin 2008-0925 - Appeal at NH Supreme Court - pending Beloin won

St. Lawrence Parish V Beloin - Agents for the State are prominent and controlling members of the St. Lawrence Parish Council - pending Beloin won

State V Beloin - 09-02328 - pending
State V Beloin - 09-02329 - pending
State V Beloin - 09-S-0486 - pending
State V Beloin - 09-S-0487 - pending
State V Beloin - 09-S-0488 - pending

Ken, when you compare these facts with your statements made in our meeting, you come off as a misinformed amiable dunce. A lackey for the State. I hope that that is not the case. Your comparison of me with Don Quixote jousting at windmills are not apropos. The facts make it more appropriate to compare the States actions with Don Quixote's actions.

If you still insist that I undergo psychiatric care, then I must insist that you attend with me so you can explain to the mental health professional why you have an imaginary friend named John Devroe and why you continue to pursue these charges against me while ignoring "these guys" bragging about multiple murders and ignoring "these guys" bragging about how they will stalk me and frame me for crimes I did not commit. The sessions must be recorded with my own recording device for future reference. If that is amenable to you I will seriously consider your offer to drop the charges after fulfilling these requirements.

Gerard

To whom it may concern:

I am writing this letter at the request of Mr. Gerard Beloin, a client that presented himself to my practice on January 28, 2008 for an initial psychiatric appointment. Mr. Beloin states that a Judge Barry recently ordered that he receive a psychiatric evaluation (at the department of corrections) to assess his competency to present himself appropriately and adequately in legal forums regarding allegations he is making against a local attorney. Mr. Beloin asked for a second opinion from this writer regarding his competency, in lieu of the evaluation he is going to this Friday.

Upon hearing Mr. Beloin's allegations regarding said attorney, one might readily assume that he is experiencing paranoid thoughts of a conspiratorial nature. However, Mr. Beloin presents compelling, concrete evidence that suggests there may be a strong basis to his allegations. In addition, he presents in an organized and coherent fashion, his thoughts seem logical and rational based on the evidence he offers, he is not emotionally labile or apparently irrational, he is oriented to person, time, and place, does not appear to be impulsive or to show poor judgements. He is articulate and apparently possesses an above average intelligence.

Although no one's competency or sanity can be adequately or accurately evaluated in a single hour, nor on a subjective basis (a battery of psychological exams should be utilized), it is my professional opinion that Mr. Beloin is of sound mind and is capable of presenting himself in a court of law.

Respectfully,

Herbert S. Demmin, Ph.D.
